LEGO® CREATOR CARNIVAL CHALLENGE!

Summer's here, and that means it's Carnival time! Here at the LEGO Creator lab, we're celebrating fun, sun and summer vacation with the all-new Ferris Wheel. Thanks to its motorized Power Functions, it spins around and around just like the real thing...and the best thing is, it can run all year round!

BUILDING CHALLENGE

You've seen our carnival ride – now show us yours! Use your collection of LEGO bricks to create a ride or attraction for a carnival or amusement park. It can be anything from a roller coaster to a test-your-strength machine, a spooky house of horrors to a romantic tunnel of love!

We'll pick five of our favorites to feature in the November issues of LEGO Magazine and LEGO BrickMaster. Each winner will get a LEGO set of their choice worth up to $100.00!

TO ENTER:

- 1 Build a carnival or amusement park attraction using pieces from your LEGO® brick collection.
- 2 Send us a color photo of your model. Only photographs and glossy photo-quality print-outs will be accepted. No Polaroids, please!
- 3 Write an essay of 50 words or less telling us about your creation.
- 4 Include your name, age, complete mailing address and day-time phone number on your essay.
- 5 Mail your photo and essay to:

MARS

TECH!

We came to Mars in peace, hoping to learn about the strange energy crystals discovered there. But when the aliens attacked, everything changed. Now we've rebuilt our exploration and mining vehicles into a powerful defense force. See how our technology has improved... and find out what we've learned about the mysterious enemies who want to drive us off the Red Planet.

ETX ALIEN MOTHERSHIP

Separates into 4 vehicles: strike ship, saucer core and twin scout flyers

Plasmod Beam Cannon

MX-71 RECON DROPSHIP

Designed to drop off and retrieve mining vehicles under extreme conditions

"The MX-71 has hauled us out of trouble more times than I can count. Nothing's better at getting into and out of a hazard zone in an emergency."

Omni-Directional Thrust Vector Turbine

Hi-Valc II Antigrav Engine

Hyper-Stasis Alien Containment Tube

MT-31 TRIKE

All-environment recon and exploration vehicle

Carbonic Alloy Stabilizer Wing

Vulcan 5 High-Tension Motor Coil

AMEC Industries Homing Missile

Rotating Ozone Pulse Blaster

InfraSweep 3.0 Sensor Array

Omni-Torque Suspension System

Cable-Reinforced All-Terrain Tires

"The Trike's got an amazing power system. One crystal will keep it going for days, and thanks to those big wheels and that suspension system, it zooms at max-speed right over any surface you can name."

Electrostatic
Atmosphere
Collector Vane

Energy Crystal Diffusion Chamber

ARMOR: UNKNOWN COMPOSITE

Arekkan Ray Cutter

"This is the Big Bad of the alien fleet. We still don't know where it came from or what it wants, except to take our crystals and drive us off the planet. Extremely powerful and extremely dangerous!"

Mining-Grade Dual Electro-Blaster

MT-51 CLAW TANK

Heavy-duty mining vehicle reconfigured into mobile battle tank

MegaGripp IV Power Clamp

High-Tensile Armored Movement System (Hi-TAMS)

"The Claw Tank is the toughest thing we've got in the fight against the aliens. Once it grabs on to something with that big clamp arm, it never lets go."

GroundCruncher Compound Treads

Galvanized PermaSteel Armor

Plasmic Conductor Fin

"Zakk" Cannon

ETX ALIEN STRIKE

Multi-conversion wings give these attack ships an edge in air combat

"Don't let its size fool you. The Astro Fighter moves like a streak of ionized atmo-lightning, and its laser packs a major punch."

Zark Industries Laser Cannon

"These things are bad business. Radar barely picks them up, and that main weapon will knock out your vehicle's power systems if it hits you."

ARMOR: UNKNOWN COMPOSITE

Ultralight Atmo-Slicer Wing Frame

Bio-Organic Flight System

MX-11 ASTRO FIGHTER

High-velocity aero-strike fighter

SECRETS OF THE

TOA MAHRI!

BIONICLE® heroes go underwater in 2007, with the new Toa Mahri! But how were these exciting sets designed? Where do the designers get their ideas and how do they bring them to life? We asked Design Manager and long-time BIONICLE team member Christoffer Rundahl to share some secrets of set design!

Q: The Toa Mahri look very different from other Toa you have designed, and they're obviously ready for underwater action. What were some of the challenges you faced designing these sets?

CR: The biggest challenge was to make the Toa live underwater and to make a design that wouldn't be too close to real diver's equipment, but still be believable and BIONICLE.

Q: Can you tell us something about how sets are designed? What different steps do you go through?

CR: We start by making a physical mock-up of the characters. Then we test the figures. We get groups of kids we show the models to, and then we use their feedback to make the models better or terminate them if they aren't good enough. After that, we start designing the different elements and models for production.

Q: How much does the BIONICLE story affect your designs for sets?

CR: We have a story team we work together with at the same time we are designing the products. This way, we can take inspiration from the sets and use that in the story, and take inspiration from the story and use it in the sets.

Q: How did you make the Toa Mahri look different from each other?

CR: We tried to add different details to each of them, like Jaller has a "pet," Kongu has two Cordak blasters, others have lots of blades, etc.

Q: What is your favorite part of your job?

CR: When I see the kids react to the BIONICLE sets – it's very rewarding to see all the hard work we put into the sets is appreciated.

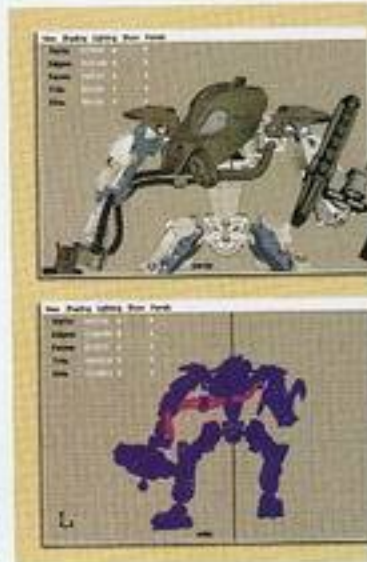

Q: Last question – who are your favorite Toa Mahri?

CR: Toa Mahri Kongu or Toa Mahri Hewkii! ■

“When I see the kids react to the BIONICLE sets – it's very rewarding to see all the hard work we put into the sets is appreciated.”

Q: Is it hard coming up with ideas for new BIONICLE sets every year?

CR: We always think so, but as soon as we get started there are always lots of ideas. And everyone on the team loves that part of the process.

BLAST OFF FOR SPACE CAMP!

LEGO

MARS MISSION

The LEGO Company is teaming up with Cartoon Network™ and Space Camp to send 10 very lucky kids to Space Camp in Huntsville, Alabama! Each winner can bring a friend, and both can bring a parent, to celebrate Space Camp's 25th Anniversary of making galactic-sized dreams come true.

Winners will take part in space training, simulated team missions, rocket building and even robotics with their friends and parents. They'll learn all about space stations and the Space Shuttle, try out astronaut food, find out how to sleep in zero-G, and much, much more!

Watch Cartoon Network during the week of August 6 to find out how you could win the ultimate Space Camp experience!
